

Contributors

IGOR M. BOGUSLAVSKY

Head of Computational Linguistics laboratory at the Institute for Information Transmission Problems of the Russian Academy of Sciences, professor at the Technical University of Madrid. Major research interests: semantics, syntax, and their interaction, computational linguistics, formal models of language. Languages of interest: Russian, English, Spanish. Email: igor.m.boguslavsky@gmail.com

ELENI BUŽAROVSKA

Professor of linguistics at the English department of the University of Cyril & Methodius, a member of the Research Center for Areal Linguistics (Skopje, R.Macedonia). She started out as a specialist in foreign language teaching when she co-authored two textbooks. Major research interests: syntax, semantics and pragmatics. Languages of interest: English, Russian, Greek, Bulgarian and Macedonian. Her recent investigations concentrate on research in the field of typology of Balkan grammatical systems (relativization, voice, tense) as well as grammaticalization and language change. Co-editor (with Zuzanna Topolinska) of a volume on typological characteristics of Macedonian. E-mail: elenibuzarovska@mt.net.mk

EUGENIUSZ CYRAN

Head of English Institute and Department of Celtic at John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin. Major research interests: phonological and phonetic theory, Government Phonology, CVCV Phonology, syllable structure, the phonology/phonetics interface. Languages of interest: Polish, English, Irish. E-mail: cyran@kul.pl

MACIEJ EDER

Institute of Polish Philology, Pedagogical University of Kraków, Poland, and Institute of Polish Language, Polish Academy of Sciences, Kraków, Poland (e-mail: maciejeder@gmail.com). Major research interests: Polish and Latin literature of the 16th and the 17th centuries, stylistics, versification, quantitative linguistics, computer-assisted text analysis, authorship attribution. Languages of interest: Polish, English, Latin.

EWA JĘDRZEJKO

Professor at the Institute of Polish Language at the Silesian University. Author of 100 papers on semantics, Polish grammar and text; most important monographs: Semantyka i składnia polskich czasowników deontycznych [Semantics and Syntax of Polish Deontic Verbs] (1987), Problemy predykcji peryfrastycznej. Pojęcia — znaki — konstrukcje [Problems of Periphrastic predications] (2002), Składnia — style — teksty. Składniowe aspekty przemian polszczyzny XX wieku (2005); co-author of other publications, including dictionaries. Major research interests: cultural motivations of word-formation, phraseology, paremiology, onomastics, functional-stylistic differences within Polish language, the development of the Polish language. Currently working on a monograph on cultural and linguistic images of Poland in paremiology.

SÉAMUS MAC MATHÚNA

Professor of Irish at the New University of Ulster since 1980. He is founding President of Societas Celto-Slavica, founding editor of Studia Celto-Slavica, and consultant editor of Studia Celtica Upsaliensia. Distinguished Senior Research Fellow of the University of Ulster and Member of the Royal Irish Academy. Major research interests: Early Irish language and literature, medieval voyage literature, the syntax and semantics of Irish, bardic poetry, Irish lexicography, minority languages, and Celtic links with Nordic, Slavic and Germanic cultures.

STELA MANOVA

obtained her PhD in general linguistics from the University of Vienna in 2003. She is currently the principal investigator of the project (De)composing the Slavic word (Elise Richter Fellowship from the Austrian Science Fund FWF) and based at the Department of Slavic Studies of the University of Vienna. She is the author of Understanding Morphological Rules: With Special Emphasis on Conversion and Subtraction in Bulgarian, Russian and Serbo-Croatian (Springer, Studies in morphology 1) and the editor (together with Mark Aronoff) of Affix Combinations I & II, published as special issues of the journal Morphology (vol. 20: 1 & 2). She has held scientific positions in Austria, Great Britain and the USA. E-mail: stela.manova@univie.ac.at

JERZY RUBACH

Department of Linguistics, University of Iowa (Fall Semester): jerzy-rubach@uiowa.edu Instytut Anglistyki, Department of Linguistics, University of Warsaw (Spring Semester). jerzy-rubach@uw.edu.pl

Major research areas: phonological theory; historical linguistics; Germanic languages (English, German, Dutch); Slavic languages and dialects (Polish, Kurpian, Kashubian, Czech, Slovak, Upper Sorbian, Belarus, Ukrainian, Russian, Macedonian, Bulgarian, and Slovene).

ZYGMUNT SALONI

Institute of Polish Philology, University of Varmia and Masuria, Olsztyn, Poland. Major research interests: the inflectional morphology and syntax of Polish, lexicography. Languages of interest: Polish, Russian. E-mail: saloni@uw.edu.pl

ZUZANNA TOPOLIŃSKA

Head of the Research Center for Areal Linguistics (Macedonian Academy of Sciences and Arts). Major research interests: Slavic and Balkan-Slavic syntax and semantics, the place of Macedonian in the Slavic and Balkan linguistic worlds; case syntax and semantics, anthropocentric language theory. E-mail: zuzana@manu.edu.mk

KIMBERLEY WINTERNITZ

majoried in Polish, with a minor in Bulgarian, and studied in Vienna, Wrocław, Plovdiv and Warsaw. She is currently working towards the completion of her MA thesis, Closing suffixes in Polish, at the University of Vienna. She is also a research assistant in the project (De)composing the Slavic word. Since 2008, she has been involved with the organization of the Vienna workshops on affix order (together with Stela Manova, Philipp Egginger and Bogdan Szymanek). E-mail: kim@5uper.net

GENNADY ZELDOWICZ

Institute for Applied Linguistics, Warsaw University. Main fields of research interest: communicative organization of information, quantification, verbal aspect and voice, predicative nominals, case semantics and pragmatics, theory of translation. E-mail: zeldowicz@poczta.fm

PIOTR ŻMIGRODZKI

Head of the Institute of Polish Language of Polish Academy of Sciences, al. Mickiewicza 31, 31-120 Krakow, Poland; e-mail: piotr@ijp-pan.krakow.pl. Editor in chief of the periodical "Język Polski" ["Polish Language"]. Major research interests: semantic, syntax and lexicography of contemporary Polish.